WEED EVERYTHING YOU WANT TO KNOW BUT ARE ALWAYS TOO STONED TO ASK

MICHELLE LHOQ, WITH ILLUSTRATIONS BY THU TRAN

Not too long ago, it might have seemed impossible that cannabis would step out of the shadows into the mainstream. But now, as legalization sweeps the globe, a new weed culture is evolving with its own set of rules—and thousands of new devotees eager to learn them. Journalist Michelle Lhoq lives in Los Angeles and is at the forefront of this revolution. Through her own expertise as well as interviews with stars from the weed scene, she presents a captivating glimpse into the wild new frontier of cannabis. This witty, insightful guidebook offers useful tips on how to smoke joints, vapes, and concentrates; make edibles and infused cocktails; grow the plant at home; and find the best cannabis stores. It imparts the wisdom of renowned potheads such as pioneering dub music producer Lee “Scratch” Perry and includes interviews with the cannabis industry’s most exciting and innovative figures, from a lauded chef who puts on a gourmet weed dinner series, to the editors of a weed-centric magazine, to a “cannasexual” sex educator, and more. Complete with vibrant new hand-drawn illustrations by the artist Thu Tran, Weed is cutting-edge, comprehensive, and brimming with sparkling personalities—an essential introduction to pot for both newbies and die-hards alike.

SMOKE CIRCLE RULES

- No matter what city you're in, there's an unspoken code among potheads when you're strolling around together. Passed down for generations, it's based on a combination of common decency, arbitrary custom, and old-school hippie wisdom, codified into a set of commandments that helps to maintain order and prevent confusion in highly stoned situations.
1. The table is set for you. As the host, you're responsible for getting the weed, rolling the joints, and lighting them. If you're the guest, you're responsible for bringing your own stash or for being ready to buy some when you get there.
 2. Always pass to the left, making for a clockwise rotation. This is the most common rule, but it's not universal. Some people pass to the right, and some people pass to the front.
 3. Don't pass the pipe to a stoner who's already smoking. If you're the host, you should pass the pipe to the person who's not smoking. If you're the guest, you should pass the pipe to the person who's not smoking.
 4. It's generally okay to ask for the pipe to be passed to you, but it's not always the best idea. If you're the host, you should pass the pipe to the person who's not smoking. If you're the guest, you should pass the pipe to the person who's not smoking.
 5. Always pass the pipe to a stoner who's already smoking. If you're the host, you should pass the pipe to the person who's not smoking. If you're the guest, you should pass the pipe to the person who's not smoking.
 6. Always pass the pipe to a stoner who's already smoking. If you're the host, you should pass the pipe to the person who's not smoking. If you're the guest, you should pass the pipe to the person who's not smoking.
